NLP AWARD WINNER

"Through their support, help and guidance, they have created a long term impact on clinical outcomes. As a direct result of the NLP techniques provided, healthcare staff who are supporting and treating chronically ill patients, feel empowered and able to communicate more effectively. For these reasons, we would like to give the NLP in Healthcare award to Jo Wilson and Andy Coley"

TESTIMONIALS

"Where to start? My toolkit has been doubled and my mind expanded. This course will, and has already, benefited myself and my team in a million and one ways! You'd be crazy to miss it if it is offered to you!"

— Charlie - Supervisor, New Cross Health Centre —

"Excellent course! I feel I have learnt a lot in this course to take back to my surgery. I have gained confidence and know how to deal with different challenges that may occur and have different ways of dealing with staff and patients"

— Tracey - ICO Health Group —

ABOUT ANDY

When you change the way you participate in a conversation/consultation, you create shifts in how you and others perceive, think and behave. When the other person self-owns and self-initiates the change it is more likely to become long-term and permanent.

Join Andy Coley as he shares with you the transformative journey he made with his physical health, mental health, and relationships, through a fantastic coaching and mentoring methodology called Neuro-Linguistic Programming (NLP).

As a Trainer, he has worked with a number of Healthcare organisations, NHS Trusts, Training Hubs/CEPNs, as well as commercial organisations such as Groupon and Sainsburys. To share some simple tools that enable other people to create lasting change through self-empowerment.

You'll come away from your sessions with a shift in your thinking, along with some powerful skills and approaches that you can immediately take back into your day-to-day practice.
